

LOGAN UNIVERSITY

Office of Financial Aid Code of Conduct

Introduction:

The Financial Aid Office of Logan University has developed and implemented this Code of Conduct with respect to private education loans in compliance with the Higher Education Act, adhering to the Statements of Ethical Principles and Code of Conduct set forth by the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (NASFAA), and in conjunction with the University's Guidelines For Appropriate Conduct.

Expanded guidelines are available in NASFAA's Statement of Ethical Principles and Code of Conduct for Institutional Financial Aid Professionals.

Purpose:

The conduct of each member of our staff reflects on the University. The purpose of this Code of Conduct is to establish written guidelines that will enable us to provide financial aid to students in a manner that is free from conflict of interest, is in the best interest of students, and is in compliance with current laws and regulations.

The Financial Aid staff of Logan University strives for the highest standards of professional business principles and personal integrity at all times in order to reflect the University's commitment to excellence in education and standards of service.

Definitions:

For the purpose of this policy, key terms are defined as follows:

A Private Education Loan is defined as any loan not made under Title IV of the Higher Education Act. The loan is issued to students for higher education expenses, and can refer to loans that are disbursed to the university, or directly to the student.

The following are not considered private education loans, and are not covered by this code of conduct:

- A loan secured to cover education expenses through the following means:
 - Residential mortgage transaction
 - Reverse mortgage transaction
 - Extension of credit under an open-end consumer credit plan (i.e., a home equity line of credit, or open line of credit tied to a Certificate of Deposit)
 - Real property
 - A dwelling

- An extension of credit in which this institution is the lender if the term of the extension of credit is 90 days or less, or an interest rate will not be applied to the credit balance and the term of the extension of credit is one year or less.

A Lending Institution is any entity that makes loans, guarantees or services to students, parents, or others for the purpose of financing the expenses of higher education.

An Agent is any employee of the college (Officers, trustees, and employees).

Personnel Affected:

This code of conduct applies to all University staff working with financial aid, including administrators, faculty and student workers in the Financial Aid Office, whether on temporary, permanent, part-time or full-time basis.
