Logan Clinic System Goal

The goal of the Logan Clinic System is to maintain a patient-centered, student-sensitive, data-informed environment that supports quality patient care and prepares student doctors to become entry-level Doctors of Chiropractic upon graduation.

College of Chiropractic Purpose Statement

The purpose of the College of Chiropractic is to prepare successful chiropractic primary care physicians to provide competent, comprehensive, patient-centered care with integrity.

The External Rotation / Preceptorship Program

Overview

Logan student doctors who meet the criteria described below are eligible to participate in Logan University's External Clinical Rotation Program during their trimester 9 and trimester 10 clinical experience. The purpose of the External Rotation Program is to provide educational and clinical experiences in a clinical setting outside of the Logan University Clinic System. The rotation sites can range from small private practice settings, hospital settings, VA facilities, University settings, Federally Qualified Health Centers and DoD settings.

The minimum length of time for an External Rotation experience is 15 weeks. Some of the rotations are 30 weeks, students must plan accordingly. The number of student doctors allowed on each rotation will be determined by the Director of External Clinical Rotations.

The minimum weekly clinic hour requirement for both Clinic III and Clinic IV, the Trimester 9 and 10 Outpatient Health Center Practicums, must be met during the External Rotation experience at the offsite doctor's office or facility. The minimum number of required weekly hours is 25. This is a minimum number of hours, and many sites do require more than 25 hours per week. The student doctor must be fully informed on the hourly requirement and expectations prior to fully committing to the opportunity.

As in all Health Center operations, student doctors on an External Rotation experience are mentored by licensed, qualified doctors who hold an adjunct faculty appointment with Logan University. Selection of an External Rotation location is normally a collaborative effort between the student doctor and an External Rotation site or doctor, with final approval for the arrangement granted by Logan University. The University can also assist the student doctor in finding a suitable location for the experience. Student doctors are typically not allowed to do a clinical rotation with an immediate family member, such as a parent, step-parent, grandparent, sibling, aunt, uncle, in-laws, etc. however, this is open to discussion with the Director of External Clinical Rotations.

A list of pre-approved External Rotation sites is available from the Clinical Rotation Coordinator, and doctors can be added to the list at any time. To do so, either the doctor or the student doctor who wishes to do an External Rotation with the doctor may request the Clinical Rotation Coordinator to mail or email application materials to the doctor. This initial correspondence begins a Clinical Rotation doctor file at Logan and allows for monitoring the progress of the application. Student doctors should be aware that in some states the application process can be quite lengthy. For this reason, Logan recommends that the student doctor or interested doctor initiate the application process at the beginning of the student's seventh trimester for an External Rotation experience to occur during the ninth trimester.

Student doctors participating in an External Rotation experience remain enrolled students at Logan University and are subject to all of the same rules, guidelines, and expectations as any other Logan student. Student doctors may not receive any pay from an External Rotation site or doctor during the External Rotation experience.

External Rotation Objectives

Overview

- The objectives and goals of the clinical rotation sites are the same for students who choose to not to go out on a rotation.

The College of Chiropractic has specific Program Learning Outcomes. Those outcomes are:

Program Learning Outcomes

1. COMMUNICATION – exhibit verbal and written communication skills that promote integrative healthcare relationships.
2. CRITICAL REASONING – demonstrate critical reasoning framed by the principles of evidenced-informed practice.
3. PATIENT CENTERED HEALTH CARE – demonstrate appreciation of the needs and preferences of patients as individuals.
4. PROFESSIONALISM – demonstrate ethical and responsible health care and business practices.
5. FUNDAMENTAL KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS – demonstrate knowledge and skills foundational to evidence-based, patient-centered healthcare.

Student Doctor Requirements

Eligibility

The Health Center administration reserves the right to modify the requirements based on changes in state or institutional requirements.

1. Successful completion of all coursework through Trimester 8.
2. Successful completion of all clinic requirements (including satisfactory competency assessments) through Trimester 8.
3. Recommendation for the External Rotation from the doctor's assigned clinician.
4. Clearance from their Outpatient Clinician, Clinical Rotation Coordinator, and the Director of External Clinical Rotations prior to departure for the External Rotation experience.
5. Good academic and professional standing.

Responsibilities and Guidelines

1. Attendance requirement- Student doctors must spend a minimum of 25 hours a week in the Clinical Rotation site or doctor's office and accumulate a minimum of 375 clinic hours during the trimester 9 and trimester 10 clinic course. This is a weekly attendance requirement, and participation in clinic activities is required until the end of the 15th week of the trimester. A student doctor who has completed the 375 required clinic hours must continue to work in the Clinical Rotation's office until the end of week 15.
2. Student doctors are encouraged to work closely with the Clinical Rotation doctor in all aspects of office management and patient care to maximize the benefits of the Clinical Rotation experience.
3. Duties that the student doctor is allowed to perform during a Clinical Rotation experience are dictated by the laws of the jurisdiction in which the private practice or Clinical Rotation site is located, as well as approach taken by the Clinical Rotation doctor in mentoring the student doctor.
4. A student doctor who experiences a problem with the Clinical Rotation experience must contact the Director of External Clinical Rotations immediately and explain the situation. The Health Center administration will determine if the Clinical Rotation experience needs to be modified in some way or interrupted. If interrupted, the student doctor may transfer to a different Clinical Rotation site, if available, or return to the initial Logan Health Center clinic, where shifts will be assigned to ensure the opportunity to complete all course requirements.

5. Student doctors are asked to evaluate their Clinical Rotation site or doctors at the conclusion of the Clinical Rotation experience.
6. The Clinical Rotation site or doctor must assess the student on a regular basis. Logan University will be providing a Clinical Assessor that will visit each site throughout the semester. The Clinical Assessor will train the Clinical Rotation site and doctor on how to assess, when to assess, and why to assess.
7. The Clinical Rotation site or doctor must allow the student doctor a hands-on experience, this requires that the student doctor will perform histories, consultations, examinations, soft tissue work, adjustment, therapies, and any other modality that is performed in the Clinical Rotation site that is within the scope of practice within the state, and the Clinical Rotation doctor must be on site at all times.

Clinical Rotation Site Supervisor Requirements

Eligibility

A field doctor interested in becoming an approved Clinical Rotation site or doctor must complete an application packet that can be obtained from the Logan Clinical Rotation Coordinator. The Clinical Rotation Coordinator will notify the field doctor via written correspondence of their acceptance into the program once all paperwork has been completed and received, verification of good standing has been obtained, and approval has been given by Logan University for adjunct faculty status. Logan University retains absolute discretion to accept or reject any applicant.

In the event that Logan University receives negative information concerning a Clinical Rotation site or doctor and/or the business conduct of the Clinical Rotation doctor's office, the University will re-evaluate the Clinical Rotation doctor's eligibility to continue in the Clinical Rotation Program. The decision of Logan University in such matters is final.

The Health Center administration reserves the right to modify the requirements based on changes in state or institutional requirements.

1. The doctor must have graduated from an institution accredited by a chiropractic accrediting agency that is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education, or equivalent international accrediting agency.
2. The doctor must be licensed and in good standing with the Board of Chiropractic Examiners in the state where the doctor resides and practices and must pass a background check through CINBAD.
3. The doctor must have a minimum of three years' full-time practice experience (some states require 5 years).

4. The doctor must submit a copy of his/her current license with expiration date.
5. The doctor must submit a copy of his/her business card on letterhead stationery, a current resume/curriculum vita, and a sanitized copy of a standard patient file.
6. The doctor must submit a copy of his/her current malpractice insurance policy summary sheet identifying current dates and limits of coverage. The minimum acceptable liability limits are $1,000,000/$3,000,000. Exception for the States with a capitation law where the malpractice coverage requirements may be lower. In these instances, the doctor must be participating in the compensation fund and have coverage in good standing in the compensation fund.
7. The doctor must employ standards of patient care comparable to those employed in the Logan Health Center System and as taught by Logan University College of Chiropractic.
8. The doctor must agree to comply with all regulations regarding a Clinical Rotation experience in his/her practice jurisdiction and with all regulations established by Logan University.

Responsibilities and Guidelines

1. The Clinical Rotation doctor is to work closely with the student doctor in all aspects of office management and patient care to maximize the benefits of the Clinical Rotation experience.
2. The Clinical Rotation doctor provides timely, regular assessment and feedback to the student doctor and to the Director of External Clinical Rotations. Formal assessments will need to be conducted at regular intervals throughout the trimester. The assessment plan can be found in the Clinical Assessment Manual.
3. The Clinical Rotation doctor supervises all aspects of the student doctor's activities and verifies the hours worked by the student doctor.
4. The Clinical Rotation doctor is present in person at all times when a student doctor is in the office or working out of the office.
5. The Clinical Rotation doctor keeps all pertinent professional information current with the Clinical Experience Coordinator.

Benefits

1. The Clinical Rotation doctor is appointed as adjunct faculty of Logan University for one year and receives a certificate suitable for framing. The appointment may be renewed when the application is updated, and the doctor mentors a new student.
2. During the period of appointment as an adjunct faculty member the Clinical Rotation doctor may receive a faculty discount for three postgraduate seminars offered on Logan University campus. To register for a seminar and receive the discount, Clinical Rotation doctors must contact the Logan postgraduate office (Phone: 800-842-3234; Email: PostGrad@logan.edu) and identify themselves as current adjunct faculty member.
3. Current Clinical Rotation doctors will be recognized in Logan University's annual financial report.

Clinical Rotation Locations

Because states/provinces/countries have their own rules governing the practice of chiropractic, field doctors and students must review and be knowledgeable of the rules and regulations of their location. Rules and regulations are posted on chiropractic governing board websites. To find a quick link to a chiropractic board website, go to www.fclb.org.

Please find listed below the states to which Logan University sends students for External Rotations. This list is categorized according to what is allowed by state law in regarding to adjusting patients. It is not intended as an all-inclusive list concerning rules and regulations. Please note that not all states/provinces/countries allow students to adjust patients, perform exams, take x-rays, perform ancillary modalities, etc. A student cannot go to an observation only state until they have fulfilled all quantitative requirements.

Logan University makes every effort to maintain current information on state laws. It is ultimately the field doctor's responsibility, as a licensee of their state/province/country to be knowledgeable of the regulations about Clinical Rotations and/or the delegation of tasks to unlicensed persons in the office.

In the event the University is notified of a change in law, the University will notify doctors and Clinical Rotations currently participating in the program. Likewise, if a field doctor or a student has knowledge of a difference in state law as compared to this appendix, please notify the Director of the program.

ALL PROCEDURES PERFORMED BY A STUDENT DOCTOR MUST BE PERFORMED UNDER THE DIRECT SUPERVISION OF AN APPROVED SITE SUPERVISOR AT AN APPROVED CLINICAL ROTATION SITE.
